The Dames who experienced Mrs. Ramsay's delightful hospitality last year will be charmed at the idea of again meeting her and of seeing Westover and its grounds in the glories of their autumnal dress.

Mrs. Ramsay proposes to make the Dames' visit to Westover an annual pleasure, her desire in this regard being only an additional development of her intention to maintain in future in the truest sense the fine and stately courtesy and open-handedness which has distinguished the regime at Westover of generations of Mrs. Ramsay's ancestors.

NEW DEPUTY IN HENRICO

Mr. Mann Out; Mr. Ferriter In.

A VERY QUICK CHANGE

Aged Couple Celebrate Fifty-fourth Anniversary of Wedding and Attend the Horse Show—Possibility of a Grand Jury Investigation.

Among the interesting happenings around the Henrico Courthouse during the past week, none has created more widespread attention than a rather sudden change among the deputy sheriffs. Mr. J. C. Mann, for a long time associated with the law, and who has disappeared therefrom and in his stead now rules Mr. Michael J. Ferriter, a well known resident of Tuckahoe.

From what can be gathered, it had been the purpose of Sheriff Solomon for some time to make a change about the first of the year, and to give the position occupied by Mr. Mann to Mr. Ferriter. It is said that Mr. Mann heard a rumor of the impending shift, and that, no little put out at the development, he consulted the sheriff, who confirmed the rumor. Mr. Mann thereupon took matters into his own hands and threw up his job. Mr. Ferriter was at once put in his stead, and he has just qualified for service.

During his connection with the office Mr. Mann made many friends, who will regret to hear that he will no longer fill the position of deputy. Mr. Ferriter is exceedingly well known in the county and is well fitted for the duties before him. He is courteous and pleasant, and will receive the hearty co-operation of his fellow-officers.

The County Court was in session a short while yesterday, transacting business mostly of a routine character. The Circuit Court also met and tried one or two small cases.

At this time it is impossible to make any definite statement with reference to a grand jury investigation into the alleged frauds and irregularities during the recent primary. The situation is practically unchanged, and what was said before on this point applies with equal force now. It is probable that the decision of the State Committee and the statement of members thereof in connection with the Brauer-Todd matter will, to a very considerable extent, influence the court in the position it will take. These committees declare flatly that the evidence against Brauer amounted to absolutely nothing. Still, it may be stated positively that if there is the slightest suspicion of a discoverable violation of the Barkeville law, the grand jury will get to work on it and will bring in some indictments if necessary. The court, so far as can be gathered, is disposed to clear up everything that can be cleared.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas J. Ferriter, parents of the new deputy sheriff, on Thursday last celebrated the fifty-fourth anniversary of their marriage. Mr. Ferriter is approaching his seventy-sixth year and his wife is about seventy-two. Both are hale and hearty, and bright and cheery enough to enjoy the congratulations of their friends, of whom there are many. By way of celebrating the occasion the couple went to the Horse Show on Thursday evening. They spent a most pleasant afternoon and were among the most interested of the spectators.

Before "Squire James T. Lewis yesterday there appeared a negro, Frank Johnson by name, charged with cruelly beating a woman named Rachel Woodson. He is said to have thrown the woman down, choked her and pounded her unmercifully. He was fined $25 and costs by "Squire Lewis.

The pistol of Farley, the very renowned chief of the strike-breakers, will be sold at auction Tuesday in front of the courthouse. It is the late strike, it is also the final triumph of the series of triumphs enjoyed by Sheriff Simon Solomon, whose belt noir was Farley and anything that he represented.

The sale of the pistol is an event of no little interest. It is for one thing the last echo of the late strike. It is also the final triumph of the series of triumphs enjoyed by Sheriff Simon Solomon, whose belt noir was Farley and anything that he represented.

A tract of land, containing 128 1/2 acres, of which about 30 acres are cleared and the remainder in timber, located on the New Market Road, about ten miles below Richmond, will be sold to-day at noon in front of the courthouse by A. J. Chevalier & Company.

At the Academy.

When the world's literature has all been studied and there remains only one great master of it all, of all time, that master has been almost defied by the civilization of the world. This is William Shakespeare. The introduction of this master to the stage, as a character, had never been attempted previous to the conception of "The Boy of the Queen," in which Miss Percy Haswell, with the George Fawcett Company, is to appear at the academy matinee to-day and again to-night.

Miss Haswell is cast in the play as Lady Julia, a character, a venture one might say, who, disguised as a boy, joined a band of Shakespeare's players and was the original Juliet in the production of "Romeo and Juliet."

Arranging for the "Slipper." George M. Murray, business manager for John C. Fisher's stupendous musical production, "The Silver Slipper," arrived in the city yesterday for the purpose of final details for the appearance of this huge musical organization at the Academy of Music Thursday and Friday next.

This company numbers one hundred people and travels exclusively by special train. They will arrive here Thursday next at 11:30 A. M. via the Norfolk and Western Railroad from Norfolk, and after fulfilling their engagements here will leave for Roanoke, Va., via the F. & W. R. R. for one special performance.

Murray states that aside from the Grand Opera Company this is by all odds the largest theatrical company that will tour the country this season.

An array of extra stage hands, electricians and other workmen are purposely carried, and their own orchestra of twelve men.

Paul Gilmore, who is most pleasantly remembered for his splendid performance in "The Tyranny of Tears" last season, will be seen here Saturday of next week in the London and New York scene, "The Mummy and the Humming Bird."

The Reha-Skinner ay.

In making his Shakespearean revivals Augustin Daly never spared pains or effort in getting the stage settings he thought the scenes required. For "The Taming of the Shrew," for instance, he seen here Wednesday night, he brought the gold furniture from a Neapolitan palace formerly owned by King
